

Kingston's Run To

by Mark Bernstein

Although Kingston House finished fourth in intramurals last year, we felt it was a disappointing season. After placing second two years ago we looked forward to challenging for the top position in sports. The season started off on a bright note with an impressive showing in football. Our first game was a slaughter of Bachelor House, 30 - 0.

Our football season was threatened in the semi-final game against Princeton House. The game was played in 20 weather and snow began to fall during the game. Both teams battled hard through a scoreless first-half, with Kingston leading in first-downs. Then Princeton got the first break when Two Kingston defenders slipped on the treacherous field and Princeton scored and led 6 - 0. However, with two minutes remaining, Kingston showed its best. QB Rick Kushner, using the clock brilliantly with short sideline passes to his halfbacks and center Mark Bernstein (who just happened to have led the team in receptions with ten), led his team downfield. The march was capped with the TD pass to G. Greenfield and the game was ours. However the football campaign was ended in disappointment with a loss to House of York in the finals 6 - 0.

Basketball proved to be the biggest disappointment because we only advanced to the semi-finals. However our defeat was due to injuries to three key players. This year with two promising rookies, we are a hoop threat.

Although we lost in the semies, there were some bright notes. We defeated House of York twice in league play which in itself was a minor miracle. The fine play of M. Kurlanzik, G. Greenfield and M. Cohen up front and the ballhandling of I. GLUCK and H. Wolfson gave us a fine nucleus to work with. Dave Robbins (ALL 6' 5" of him) and B. Lesser will strengthen our board control and M. Morganbesser (the old Man) and A. Eisenstein will add much to our ball control and fast breaks.

In the individual categories

we took the championship in badminton doubles due to the fine play of S. Bloch and M. Winter.

With the spring semester, however came an unwelcome surprise. Kingston House, who the year before had taken second place in softball, lost its first game in a tough game with Continental House. In Volleyball, a game dominated the previous two years by Kingston and York, Kingston placed second after a heart breaking defeat to York in the finals.

The volleyball finals was worth a word. The winner was decided after each side had won one game. The final score was 15-13 in one of the most exciting games

BASH STRIKES AGAIN ON FRESHMAN WEEKEND

by Bruce Mandel

Evening activities during the recent Freshman Weekend were highlighted by 2 brews of the famed Kingston House Bash.

In the room of CHP president Eddy Rudofsky about 1807 freshman, leaders, faculty members and assorted deans were swigging down quarts of the garbage can liquid. One dean remarked

As for Freshmen Weekend, a good time was had by all who can remember what they did.

During the coming term we are planning many parties with Bash. Towards the end of the month, there will be a dated party with bash. On Nov. 1, we will have our annual Blind - dated Halloween Party. This year with Bell House ever played. It was a question of Yorks height against Kingston's defense and fine ball control. This year we again plan to field a powerful team, again aided by our Big Man on Campus----Dave Robbins 6 feet 5 inches. Our answer to the BIG "Z".

The biggest surprise of the intramaurals year was accomplished by Kingston. The annual track meet, which has always been dominated by fraternities was won by Kingston House. We took first place in the 100 yard dash, 440 relay and places in the 220 dash, 440 run and the broad jump. Kingston was very proud of their track team led by H. Wolfson, B. Schwartz, B. Ganz, K. Scheinder and B. Lesser.

Kingston fielded a fine bowling team last spring, led by Mel Morganbesser, Paul Karchawer, Steve Gross, and Mickey Kurlanzik. Kingston was defeated

However, that was last year. At the writing of this article, Kingston again looks like a power in football with an 8-6 victory over Randon House, and more recently an impressive victory 26-13 victory over A E PI. This game was very significant in that we established the long threat from QB R. Peter Kushner to ends M. Hecht and R. Elwood. We also proved that the running game was not dead when we pulled a number of successful power sweeps, led by center Mark Bernstein and guards Rozansky and Saltz. Rookie guard Dave Robbins, who was injured but expected back by our opening game, will instill fear in opposing linemen with his 6 feet 5, 245lb bulk. He's Greenfield and Strachman provide both power blocking and added receivers to our explosive offensive.

Thus, although this article in the play-offs after placing second in their league. This year Kingston has already started getting ready by encouraging individual matches among its membership for personal gains.

started off on a rather pessimistic note, I feel that the future of sports in Kingston House is in good hands and will provide a worthy adversary for any opponent.
